

The Nelson Gallery Presents
The Fourth in a series of art workshops
Beginning Watercolor with Purnell Pettyjohn
a 3-hour watercolor class
Beginner students

Sunday, August 28, 2022

1:15 pm to 4:15 pm

Location: The Nelson Gallery

Email: classes@nelson-gallery.com for more information and to sign-up.

Phone: 540-817-8425 – Wednesday through Saturday, 11-5.

Price: $125.00

Space is limited to 7.

This class is for beginners (raw beginners and those who have “dabbled” in watercolor, with little instruction).

Students will learn how to apply paint, charge one color into another and paint a color over a dry color, which is called glazing. They will also learn how to paint a wash. Purnell will conduct a paint-along with her students. She will paint a small portion of a sunflower, stop, then the student will paint what she has demonstrated. This will continue until the painting is completed.

About the Artist

Purnell Hearn Pettyjohn is a native of Martinsville, Virginia and has lived in Lynchburg, Virginia since 1972. In 1991, she discovered the mysterious and unpredictable properties of watercolor by taking a local class. After nineteen years of study with various local and nationally known instructors, she began sharing the knowledge she gained with instruction and exploration. She presently teaches adult watercolor classes to beginner, intermediate and advanced students, in her studio, Art on 12th, which is located over the Art Box in downtown, Lynchburg.

Notes:

Reservation for the class is not guaranteed until payment has been made.

Refunds given only if the Gallery is able to fill the spot prior to the class beginning.
